More Than 60,000 on Strike and Total Is Growing

Packard Plant Closes, Rubber Workers Are Out

Mass Industry Strike Appears Likely To Be Extended

(By The Associated Press)

The nationwide total of workers in strikes went above the 60,000 mark yesterday (Thursday) as the main plant of the Packard Motor Company in Detroit closed. A further increase in the number of workers from work was expected to result from a threatened extension of the glass industry strike in which 10,000 Pennsylvania workers have been involved for days.

Taylor Takes Action
The War Labor Board chairman, George W. Taylor, called upon strikers at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, O., where 18,700 workers are out, to resume their production of war goods immediately.

In Detroit 20,000 Packard employees were idle because of a strike of 1,000 CIO maintenance men in showdown battle with AFL construction workers on reconstruction work.

At three Budd Wheel Company plants and one Ford Motor Company plant 7,525 CIO maintenance men resumed work. Two thousand Budd Aviation Corporation workers went back to their jobs after a day out. Several hundred workers remained out in a jurisdictional dispute at five lumber yards.

Goodyear Workers Out
In Akron the WLB demanded an immediate end of the work stoppage of 18,700 CIO United Rubber Workers.

At the Goodyear plant, Chairman Taylor termed the interruption of production of critical rubber products "a direct interference" with the war effort in the Pacific.

The strike began Saturday after two weeks of negotiation on thirty-one grievances involving wages, hours and working conditions. The WLB said he had been informed most of the issues had been settled but C. V. Wheeler, local union president, said eighty per cent remained unsettled.

Two thousand army drivers and military guards moved goods on a truck strike in Chicago by an independent and an AFL union. A WLB wage award less than that demanded.

Ellis T. Longenecker, Office of Defense Transportation manager of the United States, revealed the strike would not end their differences of thirty-seven of the strikers.

Six thousand International Harvester Company employees at the McCormick works, CIO members, are called before the WLB to explain why they do not end their piecework wage schedules.

Eleven hundred employees of R. R. Donnelley and Sons Company, printers, remained out, deadlocked by the company's stand on the new group which has been maintained there for forty years.

At the National Malleable and Steel Casting Company, 650 workers were idle but voted to return to work Monday.

American and French Soldiers Clash When Frenchman Clubs WAC

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—NBC correspondent Roy Porter said in a broadcast from Paris tonight that clashes between American and French soldiers in Paris had been reported since Monday as the result of the clubbing of an American GI during France's celebration of the fifth anniversary of the resistance movement.

Porter said the trouble started when the WAC sought to cross a line in the Montmartre section during the parade and was clubbed by a French soldier.

He said American soldiers set out to "correct" the situation, and that the "trouble hasn't even died down yet."

Proposal To Combine All Fighting Forces Gets Considerable Support

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst
The pattern of an Allied army and air force organization for the Pacific for final assaults on Japanese armies at home or in Asia is beginning to emerge clearly even before actual redeployment of forces released from Europe by Germany's collapse is more than started.

In that pattern so far as it has been officially revealed, can be seen implementation of about the recommendations of an American GI when he spoke to Congress as

Nazis Still a Menace:

Montgomery Urges Breaking Up And Isolation of General Staff

Twenty-first Army Group HQ, GERMANY, June 21 (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery declared today that Germany's general staff must be broken up and isolated in camps outside the Reich and the nation watched closely in the critical two or three months ahead for any attempt by Nazi factions to prepare a third world war.

He asserted the army of occupation would have to remain in the Reich for an estimated six to ten years because Nazism, he said, was not dead.

Montgomery said German general staff officers would be exiled in small groups until the Allies were convinced they would not plot another war and that German S.S. troops might have to be kept in prison camps for twenty years.

Labor Leaders Oppose Postwar Relations Bill

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Criticism was heaped upon the proposed postwar labor relations bill of Senators Ball, Burton and Hatch today by the nation's big labor groups—AFL, CIO and United Mine Workers.

Seldom has the leadership of the big three labor organizations so quickly taken a stand together in opposition to legislation.

Green Takes Stand
AFL President William Green said in a statement the American Federation of Labor will oppose the measure "with all its strength" and remarked that the American workers who have served their country so faithfully and so well throughout the war will resent this attempt to infringe upon their fundamental freedoms as their reward for victory.

The bill was introduced in the Senate yesterday by three of the original advocates in the Senate of United States participation in international peace machinery. They said its aim was to cut labor strife to a minimum in the recovery period when war restraints on strikes and disputes may be shed.

The bill would create a federal labor relations board of five and an unfair labor practices tribunal to take over the conciliation and mediation job for the government. This is now shared by the National Labor Relations Board, the United States Conciliation Service in the Labor department, and the War Labor Board.

Mine Workers Opposed
John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, in a statement said "no sane American, no matter how great the visionary promises, is willing to sacrifice his liberties and freedom for a pretended square deal under compulsory arbitration, the version of which is backed up by a court decree which in effect and operation means economic regimentation—nothing more, nothing less."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, also issued a statement saying that "all the measures ever introduced in Congress addressed to the problem of industrial relations this is unquestionably the most bald-faced attempt to destroy labor unions and nullify the basic constitutional rights of workers."

35,000 More Mexican Workers Coming
MEXICO CITY, June 21 (AP)—Thirty-five thousand more workers will be sent to the United States this year, the Labor department reported today.

The 1945 agreement called for 75,000 farm and 75,000 rail workers, and to date 46,000 of the former and 67,000 of the latter have left for the United States.

At his press conference, the president spoke reassuringly of the food situation and said the administration was at work on a plan for single control over prices and food but did not disclose how it would function.

Waite Hoyt "Safe" Message Declares
CINCINNATI, June 21 (AP)—Waite Hoyt, sportscaster and one-time hurling star of the New York Yankees missing from his home since Tuesday, telephoned radio station WOPO late today that he was "safe" and would return. Pat Smith, station manager, announced.

Smith said Hoyt gave no explanation of his absence which came to attention of police through a report made by his wife. She said Hoyt had suffered from amnesia since receiving a head injury during a game in Detroit in 1931.

Maryland Leading Nation in Bond Sales

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—Charles S. Garland, state chairman of the Maryland War Finance committee, announced today that Maryland had surpassed its $231,000,000 quota in the Seventh War Loan and at the latest available figures was leading the nation in oversubscription.

Subscriptions represented 141 per cent of the quota, he said.

Filipinos Seize Cagayan Capital Of Tuggergarao

MANILA, Friday, June 22 (AP)—Filipino guerrillas have captured the Cagayan province capital of Tuggergarao, fifty airline miles south of the Luzon north coastal port of Aparri.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today as the United States Thirty-seventh infantry division mopped up around Ilagan and destroyed eight Japanese flame-throwing tanks.

Tuggergarao is the second provincial capital in Northern Luzon to be liberated in as many days. The Thirty-seventh division already had taken Ilagan, capital of Isabela province, and some thirty-five miles south of Tuggergarao.

The guerrillas seized large quantities of food and ammunition, MacArthur reported. Resistance there was described as scattered, with the Japanese apparently fleeing northward through the Cagayan valley towards the doubtful sanctuary of Aparri port.

The Thirty-seventh, however, ran into an enemy force four miles southeast of Ilagan, where the Japanese flame-throwers were knocked out.

Aussies Make New Landing
On Borneo, where Australian troops have been operating since June 10, MacArthur announced that units of the Australian Ninth division had made an unopposed hop down the coast, landing at Lutong, refinery center for the Seria and Miri oil fields about 80 miles southwest of their first landing at Brunai bay.

The amphibious operation was preceded by strong preparatory bombardment of the beaches. Allied planes operating from Labuan air field on the island of Labuan, in the mouth of Brunei bay, damaged a number of grounded Japanese planes at Keningau, Borneo, and attacked personnel areas elsewhere.

Bomb Kudit Area
Medium bombers struck the Kudit area to the north and heavy bombers again lambasted the southeastern Dutch Borneo port of Balikpapan with 130 tons of incendiaries and explosives and set fire to the Kuching shipyards.

While the Borneo campaign thus progressed and the Northern Luzon cleanup was being hastened by the guerrillas and regular army troops, the long, grinding drive on the Southwest Pacific fighting were on Luzon, in the Cagayan valley corridor.

MacArthur reported that two American planes were lost in attacks on enemy defenses on Mindanao, which were hit with 254 tons of bombs.

Fastest developments in the Southwest Pacific fighting were on Luzon, in the Cagayan valley corridor.

Partial Eclipse Coming July 9
BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—There will be less than half of the customary amount of sunlight in the morning hours of July 9—and Marylanders rising early enough will witness a phase of the first total eclipse of the sun observed in the United States since 1932.

The word total, however, doesn't mean a complete blackout—except for those observers in the narrow region covered by the path of totality. That itinerary of murkiness starts near Boise, Idaho, and passes across Butte, Mont.

Wickard Confirmed
WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard to a ten-year-term as Rural Electrification administrator. The vote was 56 to 6.

Three Major Air Forces To Operate In Pacific In War against Japan
WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—At least three major air forces in the Pacific, two of them using super-bombers, are to operate in the accelerated air war against Japan.

This came to light today in an announcement by Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle that his Eighth air force will be given strategic directives by the joint chiefs of staff at Washington.

Doolittle's disclosure at a news conference made it obvious that the Eighth, being redeployed from Europe, will operate independently of the overall Pacific command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Chester Nimitz—as does the Twentieth air force.

Under the general command of MacArthur is the Far Eastern air force of Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney. That force uses a variety of planes, including B-24s, medium bombers and fighters. So far as is known, the Far Eastern air force does not employ the very heavy bombardment types like the B-29.

In discussing the composition of the Eighth air force, Doolittle said the present intention is to use B-29s and whatever other types of planes are needed.

BUCKNER'S TROOPS CARRY HIM TO FINAL REST

day, at which the Texan plans to make a general report to the Senate. Senator Vandenberg plans to supply a detailed report on the conference to the Senate on Friday.

Senate ratification is necessary for the United States to participate. (D-Tex) arranged to report to the Senate on its next Thursday and Friday.

Secretary of State Stettinius, beaming with pleasure, told a news conference that everything is now ready for the eight-hour signing ceremony to start late Monday.

The next day President Truman will make his formal address to the closing session. Present plans are for Mr. Truman to carry the charter back with him to Washington.

But if he does not go directly back, then Senator Connally will take the charter for unofficial presentation to the Senate on Thursday.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Republicans moved today to strip OPA of all authority over food, as their House leader, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, declared "bungling and inefficiency" have brought America "to the brink of want."

Broader a recommendation by Herbert Hoover, Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) proposed an OPA amendment to transfer food pricing and rationing powers from Chester B. Conner to Clinton P. Anderson, who becomes Agriculture secretary July 1.

Democrats Opposed
Democratic leaders marshalled their forces to beat back the Jenkins amendment. Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the Banking committee told newsmen it would lead to confusion in wartime economic controls because one agency would have control of food prices and rationing while another, OPA, would have jurisdiction over other products.

The issue will come to a showdown when the House votes tomorrow on legislation to extend wartime price control for one year. In a denunciation of OPA administration, Martin told the House:

"The American people are learning you cannot eat either statistics or ceiling prices. These are poor substitutes for meat and sugar. x x x

"Right from the very beginning this agency has been run by crackpot theorists, and I am not referring to the head man. x x x If we continue to allow these crackpot experimenters to bungle the job, the whole purpose of rationing and price control may be defeated in a wave of public indignation."

On "HARA KIRI" MESA, Okinawa (AP)—Members of the Three Hundred Eighty-third infantry's second battalion medical section believe the Japanese were "hopped up" for some of their wild antics as they were driven from this mesa, including grotesque suicides which gave the place its battle name.

The "medics" had very little opportunity to examine the Japanese before death, because so few were caught still alive. But two that were treated for wounds were "filled" with narcotics, said Lt. Harry Hartman, of Cairo, Ill., forward station chief.

29,598 Wounded Through Tuesday, Admiral Reports

Thirteen Japanese Killed for Every American in Island Fighting

By LEIF ERICKSON
GUAM, Friday, June 22 (AP)—Okinawa was captured at a cost of 6,990 soldiers and marines killed or missing and 29,598 wounded through Tuesday. Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today several hours after reporting the island was secured at 1 p. m. yesterday, Okinawa time.

Japanese casualties were 90,401 through Wednesday, and more than 4,000 were taken prisoner.

Japs Surrender in Groups
With Okinawa finally secured from a military definition, "Japanese soldiers were surrendering in groups, in some cases led by their officers, and it is estimated that 1,700 were taken prisoner during the day" (Thursday), Nimitz said.

Today announced American casualties for the entire Ryukyus operation, including the carrier plane attack on a Japanese battle force hiding in the inland sea March 18, were 45,029. This includes the 36,588 on Okinawa plus 8,144 navy casualties as of May 24—four weeks ago. The navy lost 4,270 killed or missing and 4,171 wounded to that date, largely through Japanese aerial attacks by Kamikaze (suicide) pilots. Several American ships have been sunk or damaged in the Okinawa area since.

American Ground Casualties
American ground casualties were 4,417 dead or missing and 17,033 wounded in the four army divisions and 2,573 dead or missing and 12,563 wounded in the two divisions and one regimental combat team of marines who captured the island.

In a single day, as their Okinawa defense collapsed, the Japanese lost 3,058 killed.

Okinawa cost nearly twice two Jims' casualty toll of 19,938 killed, missing and wounded.

But if American losses at Okinawa were reported on May 24, Central or Far Western Pacific campaign, so too were the numbers of Japanese wiped out.

Ratio Is 13 to 1
Thirteen Japanese were killed for every American killed or missing on Okinawa, while the Japs faced approximately 100,000 Japanese troops in an eighty-two-day campaign. The Japanese garrison on Iwo was about 22,000 and that island was reported secured on the twenty-sixth day of battle.

Since American ground casualties were reported on May 24, the Japs lost 1,658 killed or missing and 8,255 wounded in twenty-six days of fighting.

Lt. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, in command at the finish, pronounced the battle won at approximately 1 p. m. Thursday (11 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern War Time).

The conquest put American air power within reach of every part of the Japanese empire and secured for the Pacific fleet an operating base only 325 miles from Nippon's mainland.

Bee Owner Faces $12,000,000 Fine
JOLIET, Ill., June 21 (AP)—Melroe Johnson was busier than a whole swarm of bees today trying to avoid the sting of a fine of from $12,000,000.

In an appearance before Justice of the Peace Anthony Mackay, Johnson learned that his possession of some 400,000 bees in hives made him subject to prosecution under a city ordinance passed July 26, 1939, prohibiting ownership within the city of domestic animals, fowl or bees to run or fly loose within Joliet city limits.

The ordinance permits fines of one to ten dollars for each day each animal, fowl or bee is loose. Johnson was cited May 26.

Justice Mackay said Johnson until next Tuesday to round up his swarm of bees—or else.

Maryland Not Getting Its Share Of Available Meat, O'Connor Asserts
ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 21 (AP)—Marylanders are getting only thirty per cent of their share of the available legitimate meat supply in the country, Governor O'Connor asserted today as he prepared to leave for a New York conference of eastern governors on meat and poultry distribution problems.

"Some of this is due to the fact that an insufficient supply has been allowed Maryland consumers because this state is considered a deficient live stock production area," the governor said.

"From all information available, the black market incentive has been stimulated by other circumstances which over a long period of time have made it virtually impossible for slaughtering to continue regular operations," he declared in a prepared statement.

It said it was probable that as a result of tomorrow's meeting, called by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, that meat and poultry distribution problems would command consideration by the annual governors' conference at Mackinac Island, Michigan, in July.

Gen. Eisenhower Urges Military Training Plan

KANSAS CITY, June 21 (AP)—Back in the Middle West where he began, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, gazing across the statues of the Pioneer mother and scout from Liberty Memorial hill today said that America must give its youth adequate and full military training if it is to uphold its position in the world.

"Adequate and strong youth training" was one of three points which the supreme commander in the defeat of Germany told his homefolk must become the United States foundation for future peace.

Addresses Homefolks
"America must trust and cooperate with others, and live in a spirit of toleration, and we must live by those righteous principles embedded in our constitution and which made us strong," General Ike told a sweltering audience on the memorial dedicated to memory of first world war soldier dead.

"I'm only a simple soldier," Eisenhower said, "but I speak the thoughts of many other simple soldiers like myself when I tell you America must be guided by these three things, the first of which is strongly trained youth."

He continued, "We must understand this in our future conduct with the world; the problems of Europe and the world are our problems whether we like it or not."

"This has been called the heart of isolationism. I don't believe it. No intelligent person can be isolationist, and the ratio of intelligence here is high."

Attends Family Reunion
General Eisenhower spoke from a familiar surroundings, close to his home in Abilene, Kas., where he journeyed tonight by special train with his mother and four brothers and many other members of the family for the greatest Eisenhower family reunion in twenty years.

"This nation," he said, "must continue strong. The coming generation has a right to expect, and it is our duty to see that our children have their rightful dues, and have proper training to meet our foes."

General Eisenhower said the world's greatest needs today are moral leadership and food. The Middle West, he said, has contributed President Truman as a leader, and must, despite floods and drought and whatever other hazards, contribute food, because without food there can be no peace.

Kelly Production Nearing Normal; Workers Return

Further Improvement in One Department Is Expected Today

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employees reported to work in better than usual numbers yesterday in all but one department, and Ralph C. Beard, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America, said he believes that department will show improvement today.

Beard said he was "very well pleased" with results yesterday in all but the stock preparation department and added that indications point to a "material improvement" there today.

The unauthorized work stoppage that resulted in the plant being closed down for seven days appeared to be at an end and Beard said he believes the plant "soon will be in normal production."

Meanwhile, settlement of the strike at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants in Akron, Ohio, was in the hands of the federal government last night.

The War Labor Board ordered the 15,700 employees to get back on the job immediately. C. V. Wheeler, president of the Akron local, and Sherman H. Dalrymple, international president, declined comment.

Dalrymple, however, stated that he has not "changed my stand on strikes since 1942 when the URWA first adopted a no-strike pledge. I am against them even though I agree that management has done many things it should not do, and has taken advantage of the no-strike pledge."

Japanese Balloons Reported over Canada

A WESTERN CANADIAN CITY, June 21 (AP)—Two balloons, believed to be of Japanese origin, floated over this centre today, attracting the attention of many citizens.

It was estimated they were 15,000 feet in the air. Planes took off from a RCAF station, and patrolled around the balloons, but took no destructive action before they drifted out of sight.

The former Miss Fanny Curtis Roberts, daughter of Milnor Roberts, 415 Washington street, and the late Mrs. Fanny Milholland Roberts, and Dr. Wilson, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Jones Wilson, were married June 16, 1920, in Emmanuel Episcopal church. The couple have three children, Fanny Roberts Wilson, p.h.m. 3-c., WAVE, Cherry Point, N. C.; Aviation Cadet Frank M. Wilson, Sherman, Texas; and William McCormick Wilson, gunner's mate 3-c., in the South Pacific.

After serving twenty-two months overseas with the medical corps in World War I, Dr. Wilson began practicing here. He is a member of the staff of Memorial hospital.

Baltimore Judge Refuses To Honor Nevada Divorce

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—Refusing to honor a Reno divorce, Circuit Court Judge Joseph Sherbow awarded a New York City woman today a $15 weekly permanent alimony in addition to a $20 alimony granted her by another court.

In Judge Sherbow's opinion, the divorce obtained by Harry C. Schwartz, Baltimore jewelry salesman, was "conceived in fraud and consummated in perjury," and Schwartz is still married to Mrs. Barbara Schwartz, of New York.

Schwartz Married Again

Since obtaining the Reno divorce, Schwartz had entered on a second marriage, with a Baltimore woman.

Schwartz twice failed to procure a divorce from Mrs. Schwartz, when he instituted proceedings in Florida, which were dismissed, and later in Baltimore, which also were dropped. However, the court maintained jurisdiction and ordered support for Mrs. Schwartz and her two children.

Sherbow's Opinion

Judge Sherbow ruled that Mrs. Schwartz's participation in the Reno action did not prevent her from contesting that court's jurisdiction since Schwartz had left Nevada after the divorce and had never returned.

The judge also said the outcome of Schwartz's previous suits in Florida and Baltimore had not been pointed out to the Reno court.

Honshu Bombed By Many B-29s

WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—A very large force of B-29s struck at military and industrial targets on the Japanese main home island of Honshu today (June 22 Japanese time).

Heavy explosives were dropped in the daylight raid, the Twentieth air force headquarters announced.

The planes flew from bases in the Marianas island and were part of Major General Curtis E. Le May's Twenty-first bomber command.

Additional information will be released when complete operational reports are received, the Twentieth air force said in an announcement.

Germans Guessed Part of Allied Invasion Plans

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, June 21 (AP)—The Germans guessed the place, strength and approximate time of the Allied invasion of Normandy, but were fooled in their expectation that a second, stronger thrust would come farther north, a supreme headquarters intelligence officer disclosed today after questioning Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl of the Nazi high command.

This officer said questioning of Jodl and Field Marshals Wilhelm Keitel and Albert Kesselring also had disclosed that:

German Invasion Cancelled

Orders for German invasion of Britain were issued July 2, 1940, but were cancelled Oct. 6, three months later, because of the hazards and lack of training.

Hitler alone did not make the decision to invade Russia, but the German high command shared in that decision, and Jodl claimed the Russians had been strengthening their forces facing Germany.

Expected D-Day Earlier

The Allied invasion of North Africa scored a complete surprise, and

The Germans were amazed by the failure of their attempt to smash the American corridor out of Normandy at Avranches last August.

Jodl was quoted as saying that although the German high command guessed the general area and approximate strength of the D-day invasion, the Germans had expected it several weeks earlier.

The Nazis were certain, Jodl said, that the Allies would make a second, even stronger assault farther north in the Pas De Calais area, and for this reason hesitated to shift fourteen divisions of the German Fifteenth army concentrated there to Normandy to reinforce the German Seventh army.

Determined to hold the Pas De Calais area and its V-weapons sites, the Germans did not transfer troops from there until they had determined that the Allied divisions which they believed were being held for a landing at Pas De Calais were fighting in Normandy.

Red Cross Needs 7,000 Workers

The American Red Cross needs 7,000 more workers to carry on services at home and overseas throughout the war and afterwards, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, said yesterday.

Recruiting facilities will be set up at the Red Cross office in the post office building today and tomorrow by Miss Elsie L. Green, Alexandria, Va., a member of the eastern area headquarters staff.

Mrs. Witherup said that there is an immediate need for 3,000 Red Cross hospital service workers and 700 social workers for supervisory, administrative and staff positions, with salaries of $170 to $350 monthly.

Applicants must have completed a full graduate curriculum in an accredited school of social work, or one year of graduate study in social work and two years' full-time paid experience as a staff member in a social agency.

Mrs. Witherup also said that 600 recreation workers are needed. The qualifications are a college degree and one year of paid employment in an organization.

Approximately 1,650 untrained or partially trained women are needed to serve under professional guidance in area social case work at salaries from $140 to $200 monthly. Minimum qualifications include graduation from college or two years of college plus two years' experience in case work.

All positions carry free quarters or allowance when quarters are not available.

Gen. Eisenhower

Earlier when he learned President Truman had said Eisenhower was entitled to anything he wants, and that he (Truman) would see to it that he got it. "I don't think I should comment further on what the commander in chief said," the general remarked.

Wearing the broad grin for which he is famous, "Ike" swept his proud 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Ida E. Eisenhower, into an embrace as his plane "the Sunflower" brought him to Kansas City early this afternoon and then pumped the hands of his brothers Milton, Arthur, Earl and Edgar, gathered for the midwest's greatest greeting to a native son.

Celanese Bond Buyers Will Get Airplane Rides

Announcements were made over the public address systems at the Celanese plant throughout yesterday informing employees that all who purchase war bonds of $100 or more maturity value will receive free airplane rides over Cumberland in planes piloted by members of the Civil Air Patrol.

The employees also were informed that tickets for the plane rides are available at the bond desk in the plant's main office.

Following the disbursement last Tuesday of shift differential back pay covering the period from January 1 to May 12, this year, in keeping with a recent War Labor Board directive, bond sales at the local plant from Tuesday morning until 5 p. m. yesterday totaled $7,000.

The Celanese bond committee, anticipating a natural last-minute spurt in its bond drive, is laying final plans for an all-out effort to reach the employees' goal of $375,000, according to a statement issued yesterday by a committee spokesman.

In the meantime, E bond sales in the county reached $732,266.50, according to a report through June 18. Total bond sales for the county is $2,621,987.75.

Radio Receivers Promised for Fall

BALTIMORE, June 21 (AP)—Radio receivers may be on the civilian market in limited quantities by fall, Leonard C. Truesdell, general sales manager for radio and television of the Bendix Aviation Corporation's radio division, predicted today.

Minister Reports Success of School

The first week of the Vacation Bible school of First Baptist church "has been very successful," the Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor, announces. The enrollment by yesterday morning was 110.

The missionary offering in the same period amounted to $22.30. This daily offering will be sent to China for its starving children. Ten visitors of the First Methodist church attended the school to observe its work and expressed delight with it.

A closing program and exhibition of handiwork will be held at 8 o'clock June 29.

Production Should Not Be Strangled

THE REASON for establishment of any such agency as OPA, as every schoolboy knows, is to hold down prices on rationed goods, services and commodities. The theory is one that has always been recognized by everybody but the new dealers: that there is a definite relationship between supply and demand. When something becomes scarce, then prices on it go up unless they are held down by government authority.

The failure of the agency becomes more and more clear, as black market operations are gradually threatening to involve more of the things Americans buy and sell than do commercial operations under the aegis of the OPA.

The American people are the hardest on earth to shackle with legislation, even under the pressure of wartime conditions. The American people are accustomed to being able to buy anything they want in any quantity desired and they have never become inured nor reconciled to rationing.

It is clear to anyone who has lived in the United States during the last three years that the answer to the nation's problem is not in the indefinite rationing of what there is, or will be, produced, but in increased production that will make rationing unnecessary and at the same time will permit the old law of supply and demand to hold down prices.

It is at this point that OPA may, unless it changes its policies materially, do the country great damage in the next few months. In effect, wherever the OPA, through the arbitrary fixing of prices, is making it impossible for production to be increased because prices fixed deny the producer a profit, then the rules should be changed without delay.

In spite of all the New Deal has done to socialize the country, business for the most part is still done under the profit system, and unless that incentive is permitted, then production remains unimproved.

A press dispatch reveals that more than 40,000,000 pounds of butter will be shipped to Russia in the next few months. Large quantities of sugar are being shipped to Spain. Millions of tons of food are leaving these shores for Europe. The resources of this country are not inexhaustible, contrary to the convictions of many Washington stargazers, and if the nation's policy continues to be the outright purchase of goods to be distributed as political influence with money and gifts, shortages will not be erased for years.

Which is all the more reason why the OPA's activities that can only tend to restrict production should be X-rayed to determine if there is what the ultimate objective of these bureaucrats is.

Former President Hoover has sensed the imperative need for a readjustment with respect to the ominous black market in meats and fats, in which these principles are recognized. In a letter read to the House of Representatives he has suggested definite changes in the existing setup and particularly a fair price readjustment on production. There should be a single food administrator in the person of the secretary of agriculture and there should be advisory committees from the army, the navy, and lend-lease authorities to regulate allocations and buying as well as other changes designed to increase production without subsidy payments, he stated.

When such changes are made, in Mr. Hoover's opinion, the people "will get their animal products for lower prices than they are paying today for black market operations and subsidies are taken out of account." He is hitting the nail on the head by saying that without these needed reforms our domestic difficulties will increase. What he says with respect to meats and animal fats applied to other commodities in which scarcities have been allowed to occur.

It is refreshing to note that Republicans in the House have taken prompt cognizance of these recommendations and have given it notice that they will attempt numerous changes in the existing laws and regulations thereunder. Certainly the price and supply situation demands some such action and it should not be too long delayed.

All Doubts Are Removed As to Japan's Course

SENTENTIOUS though it sounded, there was not much real news in the most recent statement made by Japanese Premier Suzuki. The Diet had already empowered the government to rule by decree, so it was hardly necessary to point out that the military has taken over the country. It is also obvious that it would be an empty gesture for him to resign on account of Okinawa.

It has been customary in Japan for the government to resign after every important defeat. But it is clear that the present government has abdicated to the army and navy, for the Supreme War Council, which is composed entirely of officers from the two services, is functioning virtually as a war cabinet. Thus it would be superfluous for Premier Suzuki to abandon a post that has become more or less honorary.

But the Suzuki statement removes all doubt concerning the course that Japan intends to follow. Since the defeat of Germany there has been much speculation over the possibility that the government would prefer a hard peace to further resistance that could only mean destruction of its physical resources and death to millions of its people as well as ultimate defeat. Now it has made its decision. It will fight on to the bitter end.

It will do so in the hope that the Allies will grow weary of the war. Its strategy is clear in the light of what Premier Suzuki had to say about the American supply problem and the preparations Japan is making to oppose invasion. The purpose is to make the task for America too hard, too long and too costly to be borne.

This Japanese purpose cannot succeed. But there must be realization in this country that it will require steadfast determination to finish the job.

Another Reduced Tariff Experiment

THE SENATE AT WASHINGTON has finally passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements law by the significant vote of 54 to 21 and sent it to the White House, where approval has been indicated.

The measure would extend the present reciprocal trade agreements for three years and authorize a reduction in rates fifty per cent under the rates prevailing at the first of July. The latter rate reduction allowance provided for a fifty per cent cut, and the new bill would allow a further cut of fifty per cent from them. When the full power is used, the duties could be trimmed to one-fourth of the Smoot-Hawley schedules of fifteen years ago.

There has been serious apprehensions to a further reduction in rates because of fears, not ungrounded, that cheap imports would thus be permitted to play havoc with American industry. But the free-trade spirit has prevailed in both houses of Congress nevertheless, and we shall soon find out whether the apprehensions were justified.

It is to be hoped that the new authority will not be exercised too drastically and that home products will not be jeopardized. The results are not to be predicated upon those of the Hull agreements that have obtained for the simple reason that the war suspended international trade and the effects of the law were not accurately registered. Thus, the original fifty per cent cut has not been fully tested.

If the results are what experience has indicated, they may be injurious chiefly to small business concerns as the bigger ones can probably withstand stiff foreign competition. But we shall have to undergo three more years of experimentation before it will be possible to make any necessary corrections. The only thing we can do is to hope for the best.

Old Friends Are Again Friendly

ALTHOUGH France presented a rather sorry picture in the early days of the war, there are indications that the nation is entering a period of peace with renewed determination to regain its rightful place in world affairs. In material damage it suffered less than many European countries. Its principal cities are practically intact, its industries little damaged.

A restored France, capable of maintaining its rightful place in world affairs, will do much to stabilize conditions in Europe. Destined to gain territory at the peace table, there will be a resurgence of national pride. Its leaders are meeting each situation with good judgment. Past diplomatic blunders are being smoothed over by a display of tolerance and understanding.

In recent weeks, France has been most cordial in its relations with the United States. There was a time when the two governments seemed to be badly out of tune. But President Truman has made advances which have been cordially received. There is no reason why the United States and France cannot resume their traditional friendship.

It has been suggested that a post-war use of flame throwers may be as an eliminator of weeds. It appears to be a sound idea—if only someone will develop an asbestos type of grass.

The seventeen-year locust, now emerging from hibernation, has red eyes, according to Factographs. No wonder—after all that sleep.

A Delaware holdup man, we read, permits his victims to keep their money, taking only their cigarettes. A keen sense of value.

These days the first lesson a budding international diplomat must learn is how to hold his vodka.

RONNIE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Many years ago a friend told me of a young girl confined to a sanitarium, very, very ill, and asked me to write to her and to send her some letters. She was appreciative. At long intervals she could not move in her bed.

Now, after five years, she writes that she is having complete freedom and for the first time in five long years she was permitted to go out into the open air. "Words fail me," she has just written, "in trying to express to you the wonderful feeling I have, being able to be outside in the pure air and sun."

Ronnie's letter made me think of the little girl described in Browning's "Pippa Passes," who worked in a silk mill and had only one day's vacation in the year, and she took that to romp in the sunlight, to drink in every drop of beauty about her, and to spend the few brief hours in song.

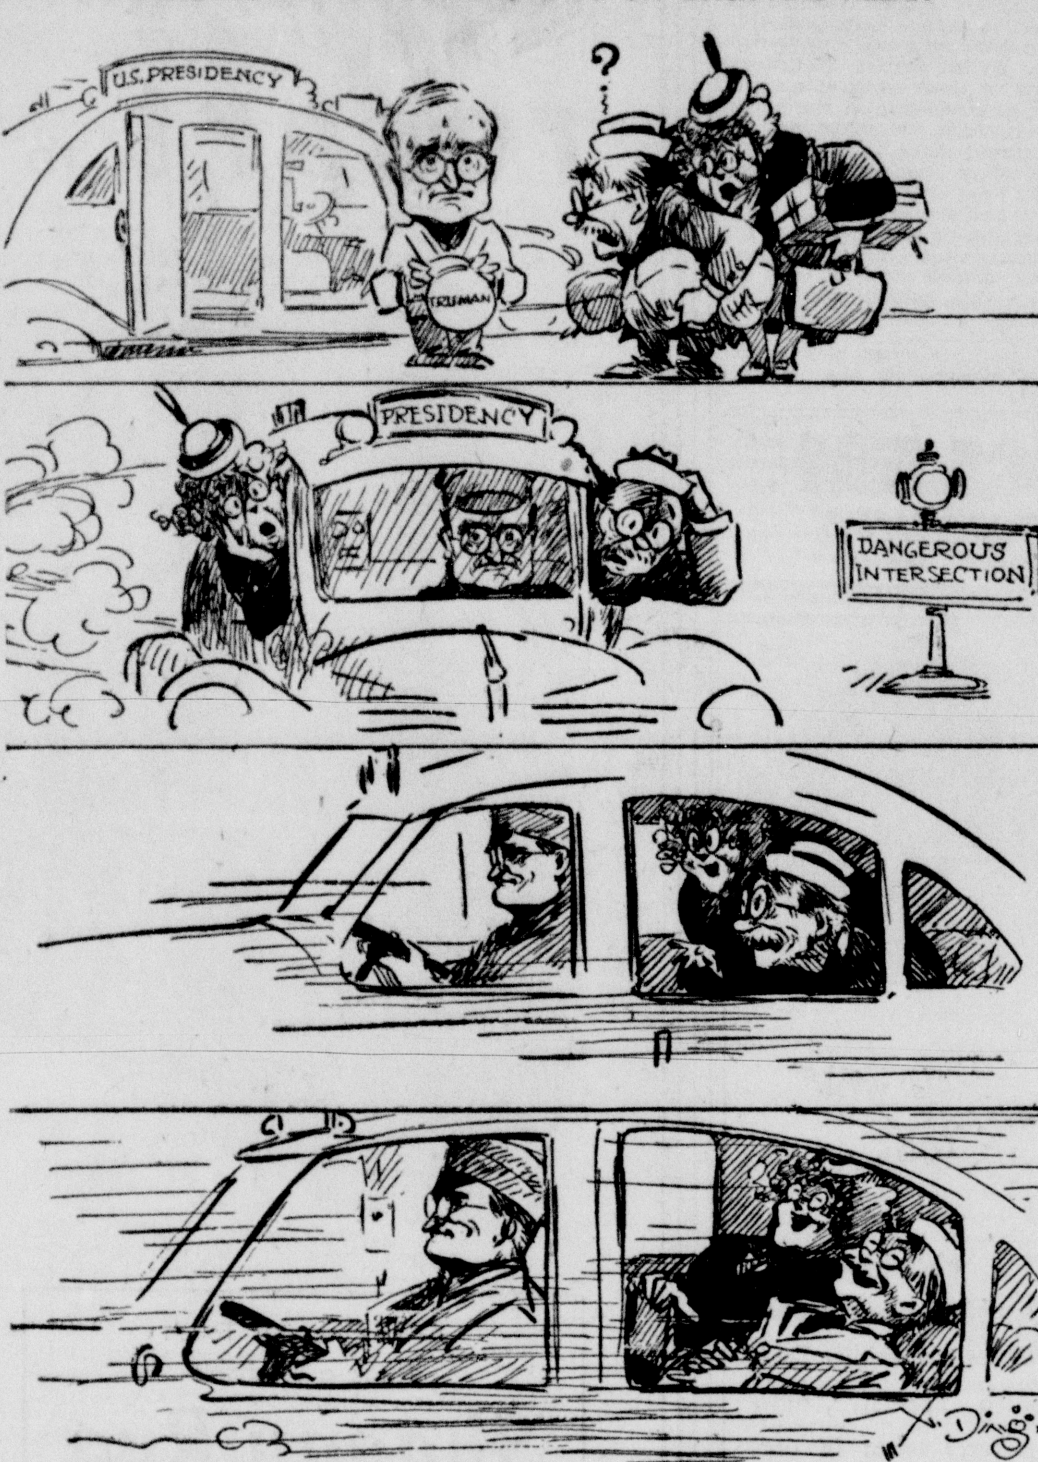

Not until we are deprived of the simplest things in life do we come to realize how very important and wonderful they are. Imagine our interest in the moon or the starry heavens if they only appeared once in a year! No one would go to bed on those nights. There would be all-night celebrations, like Christmas, and we would look forward to such nights.

Well, about Ronnie. She wrote me time and again and told me of her progress, but never once a complaint or a whimper. Always hopeful, always trusting in the great God, and always believing that some day she would be entirely well. And so now the day has come and soon her soldier boy will return from Europe, and the two together will build a happy nest of their own. I, for one, shall wish them both a life of happiness and usefulness.

The example of Ronnie is inspiring. There are others just like her, scattered all over the land. Shut-ins, who never complain, but who emphasize the power of faith and the deathlessness of courage. What a lesson to us, who are daily in the enjoyment of so much!

Russians Yielded to Their Western Allies In Scrap Over Vienna, Pearson Discloses

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Plenty of publicity was given the fact that the Russians had barred the Allies from entering the city of Vienna, but it was kept very hush-hush when an Anglo-American-French mission finally did enter Vienna on June 3.

Under the Yalta agreement, the United States and Britain were supposed to send military missions into Vienna, but during the height of the Polish trouble, when US-USSR relations were strained, the Russians had taken all the Vienna airports and wouldn't let us land.

When the western Allies finally arrived in Vienna on June 3, things didn't go too well. There were some unpleasant differences with the Soviet commander as to whether they could inspect all the city. He contended that the Yalta agreement permitted the western Allies access only to the city of Vienna, which includes one airport.

The western Allies, on the other hand, contended that Yalta permitted them access to "Vienna proper" or greater Vienna, including the region around the city proper and all airports.

In the end, the Russians yielded, permitting the western Allies to inspect everything. The French-British-American military found that the Russians were acting reasonably in Austria, and it has now been agreed that the Anglo-American occupation will extend to the west bank of the Danube, while the Russian occupation will control the east bank.

The western Allies' representatives left Vienna June 11 to report to SHAPE. It looks as if another hurdle in relations with Russia had been ironed out. A bad situation is still boiling in Bulgaria, however.

Baseball and United Nations

In San Francisco, a delegation of Philadelphians called on Australia's External Affairs Minister Herbert Evatt to ask that the city of brotherly love founded by William Penn become the seat of the United Nations in the future.

"I can't vote for Philadelphia until the Phillies get out of the cellar," Dr. Evatt replied, after listening carefully. "I'm afraid you would be the United Nations a defeatist attitude."

Capital Chaff

Henry Kaiser, the big boat-builder, is getting together with Colorado Iron and Fuel to take over the government-owned steel plant at Geneva, Utah. U. S. Steel and Wall Street have discouraged the project, contending steel can't be made economically on the West coast. However, Kaiser is determined to try, believing the West is potentially one of the great markets of the world and can supply its own goods. . . . New Hampshire's one-time isolationist Senator Tobey has got religion. He is so anxious to avoid another war that he has become one of the most ardent advocates of international cooperation. Tobey even blasted (indirectly) his old friend and colleague, ex-Senator Danaher, of Connecticut, who, while an executive of the Republican National Committee, used his position as senator to go on the Senate floor and lobby against the Reciprocal Trade Agreement act. . . . A strong move is underway to make ex-Senator Guy Gillette, of Iowa, retiring head of the Surplus War Property Board, the new under secretary of state. Gillette has his ear close to the ground of American public opinion, especially mid-western opinion, which the State department sometimes ignores. . . . Dave Selznick is discussing with Hollywood moguls the idea of making Sumner Welles their spokesman for movies abroad. Some of the book publishers are considering the same idea. Their theory is that, as the champion of movies and books, Welles would be the first freedom spokesman of the American people abroad.

President Truman's Pledges

President Truman apparently is adopting the unique policy of not forgetting campaign pledges. The other day he stuck his neck out regarding the Fair Employment Practices act (despite its unpopularity in the South) by urging the Rules committee to report the bill out and let Congress vote on it.

Following this, he had an interesting conversation with Generoso Pope, Italian-American publisher in New York. Pope had come to ask that American policy in Italy give more encouragement to democratic ideas, and not let the Italian people be subject to the British policy of restoring the monarchy or the Russian policy of Communism. Pope pointed out that one of the best ways of preventing these political extremes was to help the Italian people out in their desperate plight, and to let them have some of the food and supplies originally imported for the U. S. and Allied armies, but now surplus.

"I made a speech about that in the last campaign," President Truman told Pope, after listening carefully. "I'd do my best to carry those ideas out."

Ambassador Davies' Airplane

When Ambassador Joe Davies went to London for special talks with Prime Minister Churchill, he found himself ready to fly home in a virtually empty plane. There were only five in his own party, but his plane could carry about twenty.

So Davies invited the army to send some convalescent wounded men back with him. The army demurred, explaining that it would have to send its own doctor and couldn't spare a doctor except on one of its own hospital planes.

Davies then invited the army to use his personal physician who was with him, but this was not according to regulations.

In the end, Davies recruited his own passengers, a couple of privates, a Red Cross worker, two generals, and anyone else who wanted to fly the Atlantic home.

Board after Weir

The War Production Board is bringing one of the heaviest non-compliance charges of the entire war against Ernest Weir, head of the Weirton Steel Company for evading priority regulations. He is being charged with violating priorities on twenty-six counts, subject to a fine of $260,000.

The main violation, WPB charges, is that Weir used priorities to obtain air-cooling equipment for his hospital, and then installed it in the bar of the exclusive country club operated for the benefit of the 300 top executives of the Weirton Steel Company.

Weir did everything possible to avoid having the charges brought against him publicly. He even offered to pay a cash fine of from $250,000 to $350,000 if War Production Board officials would settle the matter without bringing public action. However, they refused.

In addition to the air-cooling unit, Weir also obtained through his regular company priorities copper, aluminum, shower doors, and other critical materials to install showers and build a second-story addition to the company's swank clubhouse.

The case against him is being brought by the U. S. district attorney in the Northern district of West Virginia.

Suppositions Are Cited To Impress American Ideals

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

That Americans were to act as smart as Communists; That business men were alert enough to tune in on the anti-American commentators they sponsor;

That they stopped advertising in journals that advocate the collectivization of their advertisers; That parents read their children's text-books on government; That Cecil B. deMille would make a great moving picture of The Struggle for Freedom;

That labor unions invited the boss to address them, and that representatives of workers sat at directors' meetings;

That every business explained in the simplest terms to all the workers just where its dollars go, and labor unions explain the same to their members;

Flags on Public Buildings

That the flag of the state, as well as the flag of the United States, be flown on all public buildings; That Constitution day (September 17) be celebrated by every fraternal society, noon day luncheon club, labor union, woman's club, and farm group in America;

That an annual contest be conducted in every school and college on the Constitution and its meaning to us today;

That Bill of Rights day (December 15) in every community be illuminated by some actual item in the day's news showing the value of one of those rights to us right now;

That every lawyer make it his special obligation at all times to explain the processes and benefits of the American constitution;

That somebody write a national anthem, or its musical score, that everybody can sing;

That those of us who believe in America speak up in the Voice of the People columns.

That a comic strip be keyed to heroism, patriotism, duty, honor; That every business tell the story of the struggle and sacrifice that founded it, and why it has grown;

That the naturalization of new citizens be made a public event; Citizenship Test

That everyone when 21 years old passed a test in American citizenship and took a freeman's oath of allegiance (as in Vermont) before they are allowed to vote, the same as if they had been born abroad;

That President Truman in a nation-wide broadcast gave his pledge that no American would suffer reprisal by a federal employee, in any form for expressing his honest views or vote, and that if it happens, he (Truman) will fire the federal employee responsible;

That everyone understand that American progress, high wages, etc., are due chiefly to the fact that we have freedom of enterprise and the finest tools in the world, made possible only by people who save and invest;

That every voter knew that government can not create wealth; Tolerant and Loyal

That every American were tolerant and just to every other's race, religion, birthplace, or color, and required only that he be truly loyal to the country that shelters him; That we spend the cost of our battleship in sending 25,000 picked high school graduates for a year to any foreign university they select, and the cost of ten bombers a year in giving picked foreign youngsters a year in American schools—and repeat each year, as ambassadors of international good will;

That "half the power that fills the world with terror."

"And half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts"

"Were used to redeem the human mind from error"

"And end the need for arsenals and forts."

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries by all United States life insurance companies in the first four months of the year amounted to $915,623,000.

Labor Legislation Move by Solons Is Called Significant

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 21.—Sponsorship of new legislation in the field of labor relations by Senators Hatch, Burton and Hall—a bi-partisan trio with an objective approach to public policies—is a significant development.

Unquestionably the present labor laws are not contributing to the peaceful settlement of disputes, as had been hoped. Even the urge of wartime necessity has not abolished strikes. Friction which is piling up indicates that the moment war with Japan is ended, there will be an unprecedented era of labor strife.

To tackle this problem now is the highest responsibility of statesmanship. Fortunately there is a recognition on the part of labor leaders as well as of management that government control and regulation of labor relations is likely to be widened if strikes persist and industrial bitterness begins to grip the nation's peacetime effort to reconstruct our national economy.

Basic Aim Recognized

The desire to remove government from the realm of control and to put management and labor in greater possession of power to settle their own disputes is recognized on all sides as basic. Neither management nor labor has enjoyed the clamp which has been placed upon them through wartime needs by the War Labor Board. A system wherein the government decides issues that should be left to collective bargaining can only result in back-passing of the governmental agencies and then strikes in protest against government awards.

The record of the last two years shows that many a strike has been called in defiance of a War Labor Board order where the management had already agreed on showing a tendency to make the necessary concessions. This has been true particularly in government contracts where the employer shrugged his shoulders and said in effect that he would grant the pay raise if the government wanted to foot the bill.

There obviously must be a change in the whole picture when peace comes and because the subject is so complex it is eminently desirable that progress toward a solution be made right away. Hence the Hatch-Burton-Hall bill is a starter toward a general discussion.

One thing will become clear in the debate. It is that the Wagner Labor Relations law, while in need of some clarification, will not be repealed and will not be nullified. The right of American workers to have become imbedded in the American system of law and industrial relations. There are some employers who would repeal that law tomorrow if they could but they are much fewer in number than when the labor law was passed in 1935.

Abuses Permitted

Today the attitude of industry is that while the Wagner law safeguards labor's right to bargain, it immunizes the labor organizations from any necessity of bargaining in good faith and permits abuses of power over the employees especially in closed shops and in other compulsory unionization schemes.

Congress will not act too hastily on these matters but it is significant that the subject has been brought up for action. In the Roosevelt administration much ill-will was engendered by the tactics of labor partisans in forcing congressional committees to squelch all amendments. This meant that wide discretionary powers were left with government agencies. In peacetime, government control of labor unions is a step toward fascism. Labor leaders would be ill-advised to resist attempts now being made to broaden present labor statutes so as to make them balanced and impartial.

In the end the cause of collective bargaining will be strengthened thereby. No law which permits a monopoly to any group can stand up very long against public opinion.

Rivalry To Stay

Apparently the rivalry between the CIO and the AFL has come to stay, and hence the employer should not have to suffer because of jurisdictional disputes between these two organizations. There are other problems that need attention such as the prevention of strikes where electric lights, street cars and public utilities are concerned. Public interest supersedes the rights of employers and unions in such instances. The Railway Mediation act furnishes an excellent model of legislation in that field.

But the important thing is that three prominent senators, having given many months of study have brought out a plan. There are other plans. It's a healthy sign of the trend toward a restoration of collective bargaining.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

BUFFALO, N. Y.—When I arrived here I made up my mind to visit Niagara Falls. I wanted to see where Tommy Manville got his training.

When we were about two miles away we heard a rumbling sound. I turned to the guide and said, "Niagara Falls?" He said, "No, that's just the rice dropping on the honeymooners' shoulders."

But the falls are really sensational. Remember how people used to go over it in a barrel for a thrill? Well—they're still doing it—but not a thrill anymore. They're preventing the barrels out as house-keeping apartments.

"Cave of the Winds." They've got the same thing in Washington—they call it Congress.

Yes, the falls were really beautiful—Millions and millions of tons of water falling a thousand feet. After five minutes I had to leave. It made me homesick for California.

I don't mean to give the idea that there are a lot of soldiers getting married and going to Niagara Falls for their honeymoons. But I do mean that Cupid and he wasn't carrying a bow and arrow—he had a flame-thrower and a bazooka.

Special Services Planned by Pastor Parsons Church

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., June 21—The Rev. R. E. Hiller, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist church, Parsons, announced that plans were being made now for the all-day services to be held in his church on Sunday, June 24.

The services will start with the morning school at ten a. m., followed by the morning worship service at 11 o'clock. The Bishop James H. Hahn, resident bishop of Pittsburgh, will give the morning address. "The Christian Church Then and Now." A brief service will follow at 12 o'clock. The services on the afternoon will be a covered luncheon for all members of the church and their friends. At 1:45 p. m. a special musical program will be held followed by a talk by Fred B. Wyand, superintendent of the Moorefield district.

The Youth Fellowship will meet at 7 p. m., after which the Rev. Carl Johnson, Park, pastor of the St. Paul's church, when it was erected in 1929 will be the guest speaker and will speak on "Steps to Victory." The robed choir of the First Presbyterian church of Parsons, assisted by other choirs of the town, will sing several special numbers. Miss Betty Miller will be one of the guest soloists.

Chairman of the arrangement committee is Jason Wolford; chairman of the music committee Mrs. J. Harold Felton and the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Miller.

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon Bishop Straughn will lay the cornerstone at the new Methodist church, Montrose, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Johnson of Park, under the supervision of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Montrose.

The pastors who have been invited to attend the services are all former pastors of the church since its erection and are: the Rev. Carl Johnson, Park; the Rev. H. J. Mitchell, Adamston; the Rev. Ear W. Slayton from the St. Paul's Methodist, Grafton; the Rev. Ralph McCoy, Roanoke; the Rev. Karl M. Scott, Middlebourne; the Rev. W. W. Sutton, Cannel Point, Fla., and the Rev. Mr. Hiller. The Rev. J. A. Selby, pastor for several years, is now deceased.

Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Landis, Davis, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Eileen, to Charles Okey Planagan, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Planagan, Valley Head.

The single ring ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents Sunday, June 10, with the Rev. George C. Stratton, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating in the presence of the immediate families.

For her wedding the bride wore a wool suit of Mexican violet with black accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses completed her costume.

Mrs. E. J. Fowler, Valley Head, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a street-length dress of brown print crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. E. J. Fowler, brother-in-law of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Davis high school in the class of 1944. The bridegroom is a graduate of Mill Creek high school in the class of 1944. After a brief honeymoon the newlyweds will reside in Valley Head where Planagan is employed.

Recreation Area Permitted
Stuart recreation area will be open to the public beginning June 20 for a limited use this summer. It was last operated by the forest service in 1942.

In 1943 it was ready for use again but was taken over by the army. During that year and in 1944 it was used as a training center for hospital evacuation units and casualty clearing companies for maneuvers in the West Virginia area.

With the war in Europe over and an increase of gas rations, the public will again be able to reach this area from Elkins.

Due to the shortage of manpower to carry on funds, and also the limited funds available for this purpose, operation will provide only for a minimum of policing. Everyone is requested to burn up all refuse possible, and to carry away especially heavy garbage for disposal elsewhere. Firewood will be supplied at regular wood yards.

It will be usable only if picnickers came provided with their own axes, and saws if they wish them. No life guards will be on duty, and an administrator can be present only long enough to police the area once weekly. Swimming alone is not recommended.

The administration building will remain closed. Tent camping will be provided only after there has been a demonstrated need for it. Picnicking will be open near the picnic shelter and near the campfire circle. Picnicking will be provided in these locations. Bath houses will not be opened before July 1, if at all. Picnicking will not be opened on Sylvia's island, but the paths there will be cleared.

Bickie's Knob tower was recently announced unsafe, but it is again open to the public after extensive repairs and painting. Visitors who wish to use the tower should register in the booth provided at the parking area.

Scouts Camp

Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, and scoutmaster of Troop No. 96, Thomas, and H. K. Kackley, Davis, scoutmaster of Troop No. 91, are spending this week at Camp Pohkawai, Preston county, with the following scouts from Troop No. 96:

Rodney H. Kight, David Stemple, Kenneth Hoffman, Junior Bland, William Root, Richard and Edward Ponekvar, James Cooper, Richard Cangle, William Renn and Harry Arnold.

Troop No. 91 have the following enrolled there: James Clarke, John Creggan, Robert and Guy Burger, Richard McDowell, Robert Drury, Frank Katerle, Edward Komoski and Carl Kline.

Davis Leader Honored
Miss Anna Bogdonovich, leader in the Mountain Breeze 4-H club for the past ten years, was honored this week at Jackson's Mills when she was initiated into the "All Stars," the highest honor that can be bestowed in the 4-H club work. Miss Bogdonovich is the third of the county to be so honored. The other two are County Agent A. L. Kidd, county leader, and Miss Ruth Davis, 4-H club member from Ben-bush.

Caravan To Visit Parsons

The Methodist youth caravan will arrive in Parsons June 30 to begin one week of fellowship at the St. John's church.

The caravan week at St. John's will be open to all youths of the community between the ages of 12 to 23, and will feature a fellowship dinner each evening during the week.

The caravan is sponsored by the Methodist youth fellowship of the St. John's church and will be the only one in the Moorefield district.

Loyal Daughters Marks Thirtieth Anniversary

The Loyal Daughters Bible class of Kingsley Methodist church observed its thirtieth anniversary with a dinner and program at Central YMCA last evening.

Large L and D letters on a yellow background holding thirty-five white lighted candles centered the table. Yellow streamers extended the length of the table and were interspersed with crystal bowls of daisies and yellow clover. The yellow and white class colors and daisy class flower, were also repeated in the corsages each guest received as a souvenir.

Proceeding the dinner the class hymn, "Loyalty To Christ," was sung and prayer was offered by the Rev. H. A. Kester, D.D. The program also included the group singing of "Hall Loyal Daughters," and the reading of the class history by Mrs. Mamie Hinkle.

As Miss Lottie Rollins called the roll a candle in the centerpiece was extinguished, leaving three lit in memory of the deceased members, Mrs. Ella Sellers, Mrs. Margaret Benford and Mrs. Catherine Leamon. Greetings were extended to the class by Dr. Kester, and Mrs. Edna Durst, teacher, and a letter of congratulations from Miss Nora Rizer, the teacher at the time the class was organized, was read.

A humorous skit, "There's One Born Every Minute," given by Mrs. Mae Kreger and Mrs. Leona Reynolds, featured the entertainment. The group singing of "Loyal Daughters" and prayer by Dr. Kester concluded the program. Mrs. John Zimmerman presided and Mrs. Marguerite Albertson was general chairman of arrangements.

Bedford School Work Will Start

Bedford, Pa., June 21 — Work on rebuilding and the erection of an addition to Bedford high school is scheduled to start next week with Moyer Brothers, Altoona, Pa., the contractors.

Starting of the work becomes possible with the approval Tuesday of a $124,000 bond issue by voters of Bedford Borough. The bond issue was approved by a vote of 818 to 85.

The building was damaged by fire in November 1941. The $124,000 will be used along with insurance money to erect a building costing $203,728. Since the fire the Bedford elementary school has been used by high school students and some classes have been conducted in the Lutheran church.

In the Tuesday primary only one office was contested with Robert H. Hammer defeating D. Warren Clapper 1,790 votes to 1,642 for the Republican nomination for register and recorder.

• LISTEN WORLD!—By Elsie Robinson
(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

Those people who always are talking about themselves—What a bore they are! And yet how pitiful! Like prisoners picking at their ankle chains!

Ever see an ankle chain? A beastly business. No civilized country should permit one. For something more than leg bone is shackled by that rasping iron. All clean pride, all heavy ambition—everything by which a spirit can grow and climb—lie bound and rotting. For a man in chains life shrinks to the circumference of that galling circle.

A cruel plight! But the egotist is in a crueler one.

Nobody can see the ankle chain on the person who has no interest outside himself—who talks and thinks only of himself—who values every outward act only in its relation to himself.

But the ankle chain is there, binding him as hideously as ever a prisoner is bound.

Life shrinks for the egotist as it does for the prisoner. For life is not that small accumulation of experiences and opinions which we amass within ourselves. Our real life lies outside us—beyond us—in all the other lives we meet—in all the experiences we share—and the opinions we contact.

"WHOSOEVER SHALL SEEK TO SAVE HIS LIFE SHALL LOSE IT: AND WHOSOEVER SHALL LOSE HIS LIFE SHALL PRESERVE IT." Luke, XVII, 33.

Meaning what? Meaning that if

MRS. MORRISON'S
Chocolate Pudding

You add a little sugar
but you get a full quart

you try to live in yourself and by yourself you'll presently have no life at all. Your life will shrink and wither as the tortured flash and blasted bone wither under the prisoner's ankle chain.

But if you will lose your life, if you have the wisdom and courage to push your own self aside and cast your lot in with other selves, risking their conflict and challenge—then you will win an infinitely greater life for yourself.

Then, though you may lack wit, you will share the wit of the world.

And though you may lack nobility, you will be ennobled by the courage and beauty of the world.

And though your own personal lot may be dull and petty, you'll be partner in every gypsy adventure of the human soul.

These people who always are talking about themselves—avoid them when you can, but don't get mad at them. Pity them, rather. They are the saddest sight on earth.

There they squat, mousing and mousing about themselves, fretting and fumbling at the self-made chains which bind them.

And, meanwhile, the glorious pageant of life sweeps by—they never see it.

The great trumpets call—they never hear them. They see only their own shadow on the ground. They hear only the gabble of their own voices, the clanking of their own chains.

Men, Women! Old at 40, 50, 60! Want Pep? Want to Feel Years Younger?

Do you blame exhausted, worn-out feeling on age? That's the answer at what a little peping up with Oxy has done. Contains little peping up with 50, 60, for body old only because low in pep. Also propylactic does vitamin B₁ vitamin. See Oxy-Tonic for sale at all drug stores everywhere.

Tired, Weak, Pale? WATCH BLOOD IRON

If you're beginning to feel weary and washed-out, authorities say it's often the first sign of low blood iron in nutritional anemia. In such cases your red blood corpuscles, as shown in microscopic picture on top at left, tend to be pale, puny and iron-poor instead of bushy and rich in strength-giving iron as in the lower picture.

ground, sea and air attacks would some day wear "the same uniform." He doubted it would, due to interservice rivalries, but despite the dual MacArthur-Nimitz command team now beyond the Pacific, something of the same one-team organization that prevailed in Europe is beginning to emerge.

The selection of General "Vinegar" Joseph W. Stilwell by General Eisenhower to command the Tenth army on Okinawa is a case in point. The death in action of Lt. General Simon B. Buckner, Jr., original Tenth army commander, opened the way for Stilwell's new post as a combat leader, certainly a role against Japan he prefers to his previous assignment as chief of army forces.

Lt. General Doolittle's disclosure that his Eighth airforce in process of redeployment from Europe across the Pacific to retain its old designation but be reequipped with long range B-29 superforts for strategic bombardment of enemy war installations is another move in the one-team unification.

Yet in seeking realization to the full of the benefits of Eisenhower's experience in Europe, a question arises as to whether a time will not come beyond the Pacific for a single over-all Allied commander, unquestionably an American officer, in that zone also. There is no suggestion that such a move is presently contemplated but it would seem a logical eventual development.

Engagement Ring, Not Man, May Be First with Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Sometime ago this column published a letter from a serviceman who indulged in a little righteous wrath over the way his girl received the engagement ring which he could ill afford to give her, and for which he was still paying. The ring in question had a half carat, very good, white diamond, and the young lady referred to it as a "cute little thing."

Now, genuine white half-carat diamonds are not bargain-counter stuff, and the serviceman's disappointment over the way the girl received his ring was understandable. He wondered, naturally enough, what claimed her interest—the life-long devotion he offered, the years he hoped they would stay together, their home, children and all the best that goes with marriage, or the size of the diamond?

Other G. I. Joes have taken up this question and say they have found their ratings as future husbands seem to depend on the size and quality of the engagement ring they'd been able to offer.

Letters have come from two classes of girls. One, delighted with the token—whatever it may be—and the other grouching. But the prize letter came from a young man whose girl was dissatisfied with his ring. He was about to sail for the Pacific and he sent her a decenter stopper, and begged that whoever replaced him in her affections might have the decenter stopper put in a setting of her own choosing.

Another letter had real sentiment. A diamond or any kind of expensive ring was out of the question in the case of these two young lovers. In an antique store they found a very charming old-fashioned ring. The type hasn't been made for years. With small chips of genuine stones, the ring spelled r-e-g-a-r-d in initials.

R-ruby; E-emerald; G-garnett; A-amethyst; R-rhodolite; D-diamond. The ring cost exactly $18.50 and of course, the size of the stones made the spelling of the acronymic possible. This type of ring, I believe, was popular before our Civil war, and unless one turns up in an antique store, it would be hard to duplicate.

Stocks Advance Fractions to Three To Set New Highs for Eight Years

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP)—Gains of fractions to three points and new highs for the past eight years or longer were widespread in today's stock market with dealings among the liveliest of 1945.

From the start leadership rotated from rails to steels, motors, liquors, oils, utilities and specialties. Advances were well in the majority at the close. Transfers of 2,100,000 shares compared with 1,680,000 Wednesday and were the largest since April 18.

Conspicuous on the climb were Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore and Ohio, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Studebaker, Graham-Paige, Schenley, National Distillers, Distillers Corp., American Car & Foundry, Evans Products, Standard Oil (N.J.), American Steel Foundries, Lockheed, Public Service of N. J. and International Telephone.

On the offside were Chrysler, Santa Fe, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft and Philip Morris.

Boardrooms noted an expansion in the short interest on the stock exchange to 1,554,069 shares as of June 15, second largest of the year, from 1,486,804 on May 15.

Forward curb leaners were Babcock & Wilcox, Aluminum of America, Cities Service, Solar Aircraft and Glen Alden Coal. Turnover here was 730,000 shares against 570,000 yesterday.

Railroad issues generally advanced in the bond market although some carriers showed declines of a point or more.

Sales for the day totaled $10,940,000 compared with $11,556,000 Wednesday.

United States governments were steady.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (AP)—It was only the first day of summer but already the first place Brooklyn Dodgers have clinched the season's series from Philadelphia by defeating the Phillies 9-2 today.

Held to two runs over the first seven innings is Isadoro Leon, a Cuban right-hander who was making his first start for the Phils, the Dodgers jumped on Anton Karl in the eighth to shove over five tallies, and secured the game series.

The Dodgers added two more off Oscar Judd in the ninth. The Dodgers bunched five hits in their big inning, two of which were triples by Eddie Basinski and John Dantonio. Luis Olmo chipped in with two hits, one his seventh home run, to drive in three runs and take over the league leadership in that department.

Alton Nave Sets Pace for Batters in Pen-Mar Loop

Batting averages for the first quarter of the Pen-Mar Baseball season, announced yesterday by Howard "Parker" Northcraft, president, reveal that Alton Nave, second baseman and former manager of the Centerville (Pa.) Reds, is out in front with a lofty .556 average.

Nave, one of the main cogs in the unbeaten Reds' infield, batted out ten hits in eighteen trips to the plate during his team's first five games.

Fred "Tack" Clark, who has played both in the infield and outfield for Cumberland American Legion, is second with .538 having made seven bingles in thirteen appearances.

Three other players are in the 500 bracket. Centerville's "Pete" Cook, veteran first sacker, is club while Henry Wyse held the Pirates to seven.

The Cubs had to break a tie and stopped a Pirate rally in the ninth with the tying run on third base.

Phil Cavaretta put the Cubs back in the lead today. In the fifth he singled and came in on Andy Pakfo's double. The box:

Edens Has 41 Winners
Pro Tells a Golf Story
Baseballs Were Frozen
Boxer Writes a Letter

When Robert "Buddy" Edens booted home three winners at the Charles Town, W. Va., race track on Wednesday it marked the seventh time at the present meeting that he had accomplished the feat. Those three winners incidentally boosted his string of firsts for the meet to forty-one in just twenty days.

The lad who kept himself in condition by training at Fairgo this spring had the distinction of riding five winners on the eight-race card on Tuesday. On that day he was aboard All Crystal in the first, Renowned in the third, Zee Pam in the fourth, Valley Dink in the fifth and Great Play in the seventh. He was in the pilot house of four winners on June 8.

When Edens was at Fairgo awaiting the lifting of the government's ban on horse racing, W. G. Walker, his agent, gave out this timely tip: "Watch this kid's smoke at Charles Town."

Bobby will likely ride at Fairgo. The Charles Town season of thirty-six days will end next month.

The Cumberland meeting, incidentally, will open just six weeks from next Tuesday—and that's not far off. The ten-day session at Fairgo will get under way on Tuesday, August 7.

One of the best golf stories of the season is credited to Steve Kay, Philadelphia professional, who swears that this happened at a course where he batted before coming to the Quaker City.

"There was one tee that overlooked a small lake, and one day one of the members dropped his ball in it. He didn't even grimace, turned simply to his caddy and said: 'Caddy, another ball.' He drove the second, the third, the fourth, the fifth, the ninth ball into the lake, never turning a hair.

When he asked for the tenth ball, the caddy said: 'Sorry, sir, there are no more.' 'Well, the golfer mused, 'If I can't drive a ball over this little water, I'll throw my club over.' In went the driver. 'Give me a wood,' he said next. In that went, too—and eventually, in fourteen of his clubs. 'Hm,' he said, 'give me that bag.' He threw that in. The caddy said he had been warned, for the golfer by now was turning red in the face, but not until too late was the boy wise. The golfer threw him into the water. And then, by gosh, he jumped in himself!"

Wonder if Dr. Karl F. Heintz, one of the mainstays of the Cumberland County Club who has been golfing since way back when, can top this one?

While reminiscing the other day, Joe Conti, the Cumberland Colts' classy third baseman of Mid-Atlantic League days, recalled the trick Johnstown tried to get away with in the series of 1927 when the Dobbs annex

Santa Anita Derby Stacks Up Free-for-All Horses Are Stacked against Busher, Probable Filly Favorite

ROADIA, Calif., June 21 (AP)—The Santa Anita Derby, the eighth of the $50,000 Santa Anita stakes, which looks as the hottest three-year-old free-for-all in the history of the track, will be run Saturday. The two favorites—He Did in 1946 and Porter's Cap in 1941—have won previous Santa Anita derbies. However, supporters of the Louis Mayer filly argue there never has been a filly with Busher's class in the Santa Anita Derby. They think she may go so far as to duplicate the double scored by Stagehand in 1938—victory in both the derby and the $100,000 handicap a week later. Stagehand's time for the derby was one and one-eighth—1:50 3/5—may be surpassed on a lightning fast day. The event is being run months later than usual. The derby attendance mark of 60,000 also set in 1939, is in danger of being broken. The $50,000 prize was threatened by the fact there were 106 nominations and only three starters then. With only three nominees and probably four starters Saturday, the estimated gross value is $56,125. The winner will receive $38,125 and a gold and silver trophy. The filly, but it could be any one of the other filly favorites: Sea Sovereign, Effort, Checkerhall or Bymeand. If any other horse sneaks in, he'll probably replace Sweepida, 1940 winner at 33 to 1, as the derby's best carder.

Li. H. G. Wyatt Receives Letter Of Commendation

B. & O. Official's Son Cited for Part in Rescue of Franklin Survivors

COMMENDATION — A Letter of Commendation has been awarded to Lt. (jg) Harrison P. Wyatt by the commanding officer of the destroyer Hunt for his part in the rescue of 422 survivors of the aircraft carrier Franklin.

ABOARD THE USS HUNT IN THE PACIFIC — (Delayed) — Lt. (jg) Harrison P. Wyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wyatt, Washington and Lee apartments, Cumberland, Md., has been awarded a Letter of Commendation from the commanding officer of this destroyer for his part in the rescue of 422 survivors of the aircraft carrier Franklin.

"For outstanding service and meritorious achievement in assisting in the rescue of survivors of a damaged aircraft carrier March 19, 1945, in the vicinity of Kyushu, Japan. His cooperation and willingness to do everything in his power to assist, greatly increased his ship's capacity for handling the survivors. His loyalty and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

The Hunt was part of a fast carrier task force engaged in air strikes on the Japanese homeland when the Franklin was hit by enemy planes. The carrier was set afire, forcing many of her crew into the water. Rushing to the area where survivors struggled in the water, the Hunt lowered boats and maneuvered toward them, all the while under going enemy attacks. While half the destroyer crew remained at their guns, others rigged cargo nets, heaved lines, ran for stretchers and blankets and took down life lines. Making more than a dozen trips each, the destroyer's two boats returned each time filled to capacity, accounting for 200 men. Some of the men swimming from the Franklin became exhausted as they neared the destroyer and crewmen of the Hunt dived overboard to tow them to safety.

A graduate of Forest Park high school, Baltimore, and the University of Maryland, Lt. (jg) Wyatt is the supply and disbursing officer aboard the destroyer Hunt. He was commissioned an ensign on September 25, 1944, served in the Washington navy yard and attended the Navy supply school at Harvard prior to being assigned to the Hunt.

Lt. Wyatt, 26, is the son of H. G. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He has been in the Pacific war theater for twenty-two months.

Sgt. Leroy Hershberger Is Stationed in Lingayen

WITH THE EIGHT-HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FOURTH ENGR. AVIATION BATTALION IN LINGAYEN—Sgt. Leroy H. Hershberger, son of Mr. H. J. Hershberger of 507 Rose Mill avenue, Cumberland, Md., is now in Luzon, P. I.

Sgt. Hershberger entered the army in September of 1942 at Camp Lee, Va. After completing his basic training Leroy went to Normandy Ordnance Motor Base at San Antonio, Texas for an extension course in advanced auto mechanics. He then went to Geiger field, Washington, where he joined the veteran Eight Hundred and Sixty-fourth Engineer Aviation Battalion. In August of 1943 he embarked for overseas duty.

Sgt. Hershberger has been on several missions throughout the campaigns of New Guinea, New Britain, Dutch East Indies and Luzon. He has received three Bronze Campaign Stars for his Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon and one Bronze Campaign Star for his Philippines Liberation Ribbon.

One of five stores selling new ice-boxes was reported to be violating price ceilings, while the only store selling used electric vacuum cleaners was found to be in full compliance with OPA rulings.

National Guard Air Corps Unit Suggested Here

Lt. J. T. Newlin, in India, Recommends Idea for Local Airport

A suggestion that Cumberland establish an air corps national guard unit at its airport has been made by Lt. (jg) Harrison P. Wyatt, of the army air force, stationed in Assam, India, in a letter received yesterday by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Lt. Newlin, who resided at 416 Arch street, prior to entering the service, wrote:

"I'm not sure of your custom but I'll take a chance and present an idea very dear to me, for your consideration. I hold a reserve commission in the AAF with the rating of pilot. I've flown over 1,000 hours for the army and like it more all the time. So well do I like flying that I don't want to leave it entirely after discharge. I'll wager other pilots and AAF personnel feel the same way."

"So why can't Cumberland have an air corps national guard unit at our fine airport?"

"It appears to me that the airport will benefit materially as well as in the interest of a military aircraft course. I realize there is some self interest behind this suggestion but so there is behind most endeavors."

"I say again, I'm a new member and I don't know your customs yet. However, if you can make it worthwhile to put out feelers in this direction you'll make a lot of home town boys happy."

The letter was mailed from India on June 6.

LEWIS A. MILLER Wins Discharge With 152 Points

Master Sgt. Lewis A. Miller, 22, son of Albert L. Miller, 343 Baltimore avenue, who earned 152 points after nearly five and a half years of continuous overseas service, received an honorable discharge from the army at Fort George G. Meade last Wednesday.

Sgt. Miller, who went to Hawaii early in 1940 with the Twenty-fifth Infantry division, served with that outfit through the Guadalcanal, New Guinea and Philippine campaigns. He was wounded in the right arm September 18, 1942, while fighting on New Georgia island. He left Luzon May 1 to return to the United States for a point discharge.

A former student at Fort Hill high school, Sgt. Miller enlisted in the army in August, 1939. After a short training period at Fort Slocum, N. Y., he was sent to Hawaii, and was stationed at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese attack.

His brother, Sgt. Gerald V. Miller, is with the army in Germany, and has been overseas seventeen months.

Neil Allen, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Brady Allen, Paw Paw, Va., was treated in Memorial hospital last evening at 9:10 o'clock for burns of the face, head and neck. He told attaches that while he was playing he threw a lighted match into a can of kerosene.

Paul Robbins, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Robbins, Bedford road, was treated in Memorial hospital last evening at 9:45 p. m. for a left foot injury. Attaches were told the boy was injured when he stepped upon a rake.

Billy Jewell, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jewell, Bedford valley, Pa., was treated in the same hospital yesterday at 6 p. m. for a foot injury. Attaches were told the child stepped on a rusty nail.

FORMER POLICEMAN TO RETURN TO DUTY

George W. Deffenbaugh, 823 Shawnee avenue, has been honorably discharged from the navy and will resume work as sergeant of the Cumberland Police Department June 27, James Orr, police and fire commissioner, announced last evening.

The former police sergeant will be assigned to the 5 p. m. to 1 a. m. postbeat. Orr added, as sergeant Deffenbaugh, a chief petty officer, has been stationed in New Orleans, La., recently. At present he is spending a brief vacation before resuming his duties here.

The former police sergeant left here in September, 1943, as a chief specialist in the shore patrol of the navy.

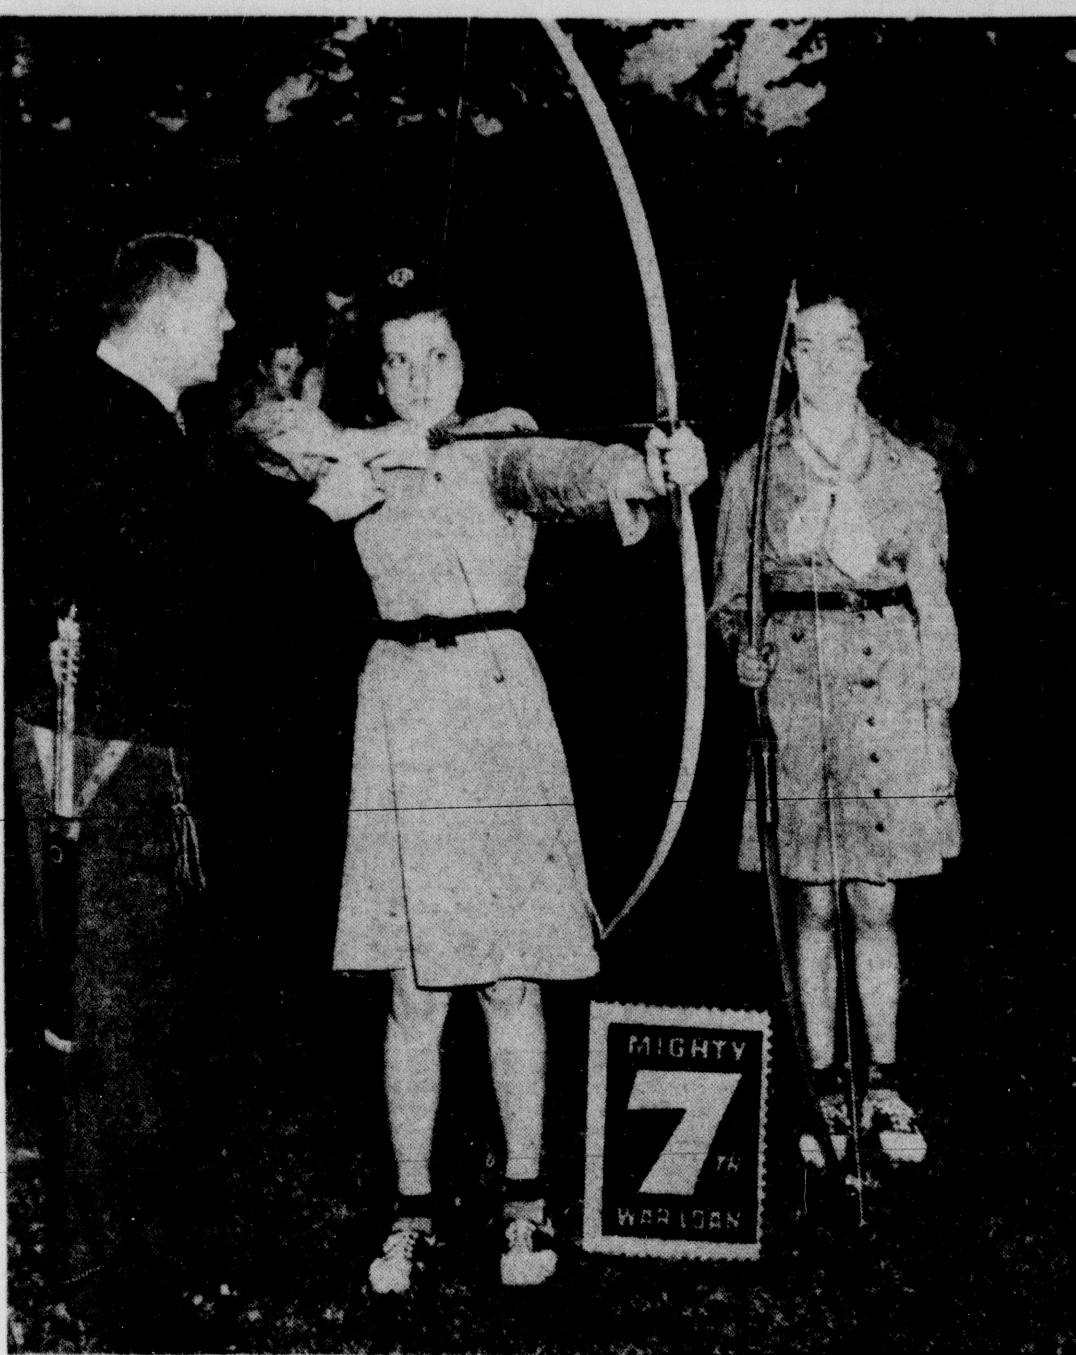

He is a veteran of World War I and served in the Aigine-Marne, St. Mihiel and Meuse Argonne offensives with the Fifty-fifth infantry division.

Firemen said the flames, which had gained considerable headway before the owner noticed the smoke, badly damaged the interior of the car. Loss was covered by insurance. Point System Censured for Failure To Include Ground Force Personnel Pekin Groceryman Asks Dismissal Of Court Suit

Failure of the War department's demobilization point system to include the ground personnel of the air force, which has contributed much to the prosecution of the war, has brought criticism from Sgt. John W. Harriman, son of Mr. Mary G. Harriman, Eckhart, in a letter received yesterday by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Overseas since July, 1943, and stationed in England, Sgt. Harriman says he doesn't know how all the men in the armed forces feel about the system but he has been told that "experts" from the War department went into the field in all the active theaters to get an accurate census of opinion.

Ignored by System
"Perhaps the point system is the exponent of such an impartial poll, but I would still like for you to hear about what happened to a great deal of us, and how we are left out of this system," Sgt. Harriman writes.

He confines his references to the members of his particular organization as they are the only men in the army that he is able to refer to with any authority, he says.

"After completing our basic training, which was a period of one to not more than five months, we were assigned to the One Thousand and One Hundred and Eighty-second Military Police Company, and told from the very beginning that it would be foolish for us to request furloughs as our outfit was ready for overseas shipment at any date."

Sgt. Harriman said, "None of our boys, save one or two, who received emergency furloughs, ever got to go home after coming into the army."

BIRDSALL EXPLAINS BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION

Construction of the Peace river bridge on the Allegheny highway was explained to members of the Kiwanis club yesterday by Blair Birdsall, assistant chief engineer of the Bridge division of the John A. Roebling's Sons Co., Trenton, N. J., at the meeting of the club here yesterday at noon.

Birdsall showed a number of slides which revealed various phases of the construction of the bridge, from the time members of the first party arrived until the bridge was thrown open to the public.

The speaker declared that construction of the bridge became necessary in 1942 after shipping lanes up the West coast were closed and the Japs took Attu and Kiska, as it was imperative that the United States have access to a land route to Alaska.

The bridge, a permanent suspension structure is 300 feet long with a twenty-four foot concrete floor. One of the interesting features of Birdsall's talk, together with slides on the subject, was his description of how towers for the bridge were constructed while the river was frozen over. A crane weighing approximately fifty tons, was placed on the ice and even pulled across the river on the ice for the construction of the second pier.
